Convicts Turn Church Into Terror Scene

By JOHN MORGANTHALER
FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — Three convicts turned chapel services at Folsom State Prison into a scene of death and terror Sunday.

Brandishing prison-made weapons, they took over the service being conducted by the Rev. Frank Mapes and a 15-man choir from Sacramento's Bethel Temple, a Protestant church.

They fatally stabbed a worshiping prisoner who tried to cut short their futile escape plot.

For four hours the trio held the Rev. Mr. Mapes, the Rev. Heath Chaplain, and five of the choir singers in a tiny office in one corner of the old stone chapel.

After a series of conferences through a broken window with officials — including the state's top prison officer, Richard A. McGee — the trio released the hostages and turned over their weapons.

Raney was to be taken to the Pulaski County Jail at Little Rock. He will be tried in federal District Court since the offense allegedly was on government property.

DeGaulle in a Smashing French Victory

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—The long shadow of Charles de Gaulle stretched even farther across the French political landscape today in the glow of the president's resounding victory in national parliamentary elections.

In run-off contests Sunday De Gaulle's own party and others pledged to his support captured a clear majority in the National Assembly—the first time in modern French history that any cohesive force could claim such a margin.

Official results, combining first-round returns Nov. 18 and Sunday's runoffs, gave De Gaulle's Union for a New Republic (UNR) 233 of the 482 seats in the new National Assembly. Some 30 successful candidates from other parties were pledged to support De Gaulle.

De Gaulle had a combined support of more than 260 deputies, well above the 242 needed for control. In 1958 the UNR elected only 188 seats although De Gaulle's nationwide popularity and the pressure of the Algerian war kept a majority of the assembly obedient to him.

Red Envoy to Cuba Is Going Home

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan returns to New York from Havana today to hear an expected U.S. turnaround of key points of a Soviet-Cuban proposal for winding up the dwindling Cuban crisis.

Soviet sources said Mikoyan wants to find out first-hand what has been said at the United Nations and in the United States while he was spending 24 days with Prime Minister Fidel Castro. He probably will leave for Moscow Tuesday after talks with U.N. Cuban and U.S. officials.

Mikoyan had a dinner date to night with acting U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson was expected to tell Thant in advance of the dinner session that the United States rejects such Soviet-Cuban demands as a withdrawal of U.S. forces from the Guantanamo naval base and an end to the economic boycott of Cuba.

Mikoyan, in a farewell appearance on Havana television Sunday night, again voiced Soviet support "by all possible means" for Castro's so-called five guarantees against U.S. intervention.

Faubus Again to Go Before ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus was to go before the Legislative Council this morning for the second time to discuss budgeting of state funds for state agencies.

The governor's fiscal experts on general revenues were to explain how much money they expect in general tax collections, and Faubus was to say how he expects to spend the money in the 1963-65 biennium.

The General Assembly meets in January for 60 days to appropriate state funds.

Faubus went before the council on Oct. 29 for the first session of hearings. The session that began today is expected to end Dec. 4.

Seabee's Life Is Rough One Marines Say

By WALTER MEARS

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Seabees call it "Operation Might," and its signature is etched into every hillside on the defense lines of this U.S. naval base.

It began in September and moved into high gear late in October, when the crisis over offensive Soviet weapons in Fidel Castro's Cuban regime erupted into the U.S. blockade.

Navy men—the "can do" Seabee force created early in World War II—do the job of fortifying the rugged, palm-and-cactus-covered hills. But the marines who man the positions have a saying about members of mobile construction battalions: "The Seabees are better Marines than they are sailors."

"We prefer not to go into that argument," said Cmdr. James M. Hill Jr., Laurel, Miss. "But Seabees and Marines have always been close since World War II. The feeling is mutual."

Hill commands one of the two Seabee battalions working on the defense line here.

Before the crisis, Hill said, "we did base defense work but it was not on a grand scale."

But since then, Operation Might has been the Seabees' only business. It's a rough business, hauling concrete blocks up the steep hillsides to build bunkers, corrugated steel for prefabricated foxholes, scraping through the hills a network of dirt roads that were not here a month ago.

Gloomy, Wet Weather Over State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gloomy, wet weather dripped its way into the state today trailing after a low pressure front from Texas.

The Weather Bureau at Little Rock said rain would begin in the western portion of the state this afternoon and would spread throughout Arkansas by Tuesday.

Temperatures are expected to remain mild through the next five days. The Weather Bureau said high and low readings will average three to nine degrees above normal for November.

Clouds covered much of central and southern Arkansas today keeping temperatures well above freezing throughout the state.

Only Walnut Ridge and Keiser dipped below the 40 degree mark with lows of 35 degrees. Some temperatures in the southern section never fell below 50 degrees.

Rainfall was general over the state during the weekend, leaving from one-third to one-half inch of precipitation from Fort Smith to Little Rock and into parts of northeast Arkansas.

El Dorado reported the most rain, 1.2 of an inch, during the last 24 hours.

The damp weather is expected to prevail throughout the state most of the week. Precipitation will total between one-fourth and three-fourths of an inch.

Gambling School Is Reported

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A Hot Springs newspaper reported Sunday that a new school in this resort city has a curriculum taught entirely by professional gamblers.

Some 40 persons, about one-fourth of them women, are taking the course, according to the Hot Springs Sentinel-Record, to prepare for a record-breaking tourist season expected here in 1963.

The newspaper said the courses are taught free and are designed to provide employees for the clubs here so out-of-state gamblers will not have to be imported to run the games. Federal law prohibits crossing state lines to operate gambling devices.

Under state law, only pari-mutuel betting is legal, but there have been reports a bill will be introduced in the legislature in January to provide state legalization, regulation and taxation of other gaming.

The newspaper said two clubs now are sponsoring the classes, which take about six or seven weeks to complete, but that a third is expected to join soon.

Once the trainees gain sufficient skill, the newspaper said, they are placed under supervision of a professional and operate in clubs. Trainees were quoted as saying operators earn from $30 to $50 nightly, depending on the season and the game.

Nation's Death Toll Over the Holiday 679

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic 488
Fires 44
Miscellaneous 147
Total 679

The nation's traffic deaths over the extended Thanksgiving weekend neared the 500 mark today, the highest for the holiday period since 1958.

The highway death toll from 6 p. m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday (local time) was 488. Related reports were expected to boost the total.

In other violent deaths, 44 persons lost their lives in fires and 147 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents. The over-all total of 679 also was a record for a Thanksgiving weekend since 1958, the first year of counting the accidental deaths for the holiday.

This year's traffic toll compared to 457 in 1961, 442 in 1960, 443 in 1959 and 454 in 1958. The previous high over-all total was 650 in 1959.

The 102-hour holiday period was marred by many multiple fatal accidents on the highways and the crash of an airliner in Maryland, killing all 17 aboard.

The National Safety Council did not make a pre-holiday estimate of deaths, saying highway travel is not as heavy as during other major holidays.

However, the council said 490 persons would be expected to be killed in traffic accidents in the four-day period at this time of year. An Associated Press survey for a comparable 102-hour period for a non-holiday period showed 459 fatalities on the highway. The survey, from 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 7 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 11, also showed 30 persons lost their lives in fires and 113 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

President to Visit U.S. Fighting Men

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flies south today to pay his personal respects to thousands of fighting men who flew dangerous reconnaissance missions or stood ready for action during the recent Cuban crisis.

Kennedy's one-day swing carries him to four Army, Air Force and Navy bases in Georgia and Florida—at one point only 90 miles across the Florida Straits from Communist Cuba.

A White House spokesman said Kennedy was making the 2,500-mile round trip to pay a personal call on fliers, soldiers and other U.S. military men who have been manning the defenses in that forward area.

Many of these units will be returning to their home bases during the coming days, the White House said.

Castro Offers to Allow U.S. Inspections

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government offered today to allow inspection of Soviet withdrawal of offensive weapons from Cuba if the United Nations confirms dismantling of bases from which counter-revolutionaries are operating against the Castro regime.

The government also repeated that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's five-point package, including U.S. abandonment of the Guantanamo naval base, remains "indispensable to a true and definitive solution of the crisis."

The government issued the statement as Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan prepared to return to New York from Havana today. The Soviet Union has said it already has withdrawn 42 missiles and has promised to pull out about 30 jet bombers that can carry nuclear bombs. The United States has lifted the naval blockade it imposed in October when the Soviet offensive weapons were discovered in Cuba, but Castro has continued to refuse to admit international inspectors to verify the Soviet actions.

The Cuban statement said: "Cuba demands that the United Nations verify in the territory of the United States, Puerto Rico and other sites where aggression against Cuba has been prepared the dismantling of training camps for mercenaries, spies, saboteurs and terrorists, or centers where subversion is prepared and the bases from which pirate ships sail against our shores."

The statement added that unless the "United States and its accomplices of aggression against Cuba accept this inspection by the United Nations on their territories, Cuba will not accept by any concept inspection" on its soil.

Arkansas to Gain in Population

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The U.S. Census Bureau reported Saturday the population of Arkansas has increased 2.1 per cent since the 1961 census and now stands at 1,823,000, including military personnel.

And a University of Arkansas report issued the same day predicted the state's population will increase five per cent by 1970.

The Census Bureau and the state's population at the 1960 census was 1,786,272 but by July 1, 1961 was risen to 1,803,000. From April 1, 1961 to July 1, 1962, the bureau said, the state gained 37,000 people.

Excluding military personnel Arkansas showed a 1.5 population increase — from 1,777,000 in the 1960 count to 1,803,000 now. The July 1, 1961 report showed 1,794,000.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE

By Nelson C. Nye

Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

He lost count of the times their waning strength forced halts.

By NELSON C. NYE

It was better than the bottom of Lucifer's skillet. Heat hung like smoke above the Sulphur Springs Valley, turning the Cherrycove gray as slate, and the lesser mountains north and south were almost lost in the shimmering haze that draped them like a tangle of cobwebs.

The hands stood straight up on Rafe's tarnished watch. He had run out of grub the other side of the pass and two mornings ago had chewed the last of his jerky. His canvas watersack, snagged by thorns, refused to yield even so much as a gurple. His skewbald mare was about at the end of her rope.

He was a yellow-haired man, gaunt in ragged red shirt and baggy-kneed trousers. The yellow silk of a Confederate cavalry sash was partially obscured by a brush-scared vest which had once cost money and was attractively spangled with flowers embroidered by somebody's needle. Likewise showing a deal of hard usage were the boots: inlaid, his pants had been stuffed, but the spurs were silver and bright as new coins.

Rafe got out of the saddle, dragged the black-and-white mare by the reins, erratically staggering, the breath sawing through his cracked lips like gagging. Finally she sat down.

It took a good while, a deal of yanking and prodding, to convince the foot-critter she was not beyond aid. Moving around to her rear he got her hind end up and there she stuck, groaning piteously. He might have gone off and left her if his case hadn't been so desperate. He whacked her with a piece of rope cactus. She lunged onto her feet squealing like a stuck pig. Then she whirled, ears flat, trying to bite him when he caught up with her. A lump of sugar from his pockets consummated an uneasy truce.

He was seeing things now which no longer had substance, faces and shapes floating out of his past. He was beginning to babble, the croakings and glibberish that accompany delirium. His father's face came up out of the tracks. He saw young Duke and his sister Luce, the hardscrabble hills of the Bender farm with the sedge pushing up from the worn-out earth, just as he remembered from the day he'd gone off with his squirrel rifle to find Job Stuart and whip the Yanks.

So Rafe had come West. Missouri, Kansas, the Indian Nations. He had lost them in Texas. Five years he'd put in trying to pick up the trail, riding for ranches, buying hides, driving stage. Finally, working out of Brady, he'd hitched on with a freighter. Near El Paso last winter he met some pretty hard cases holed up in the Van Horns, making a living of sorts stopping coaches. One of them fellers had come from Colorado.

Was some Benders, he said, in the horse raising business somewhere west of Shakespeare, over in Arizona Territory. He didn't know much about them except there iron was on some pretty fast sleepers. Had been mounted on one himself, he claimed, till a Wells Fargo messenger with a sawed-off Greener had blasted this gelding plumb out from under him.

Along about there someplace Rafe dropped to the ground and he fell into a sound sleep.

Next time he got his eyes open to know about it the first thing he glimpsed were the peeled yescoted poles of a sod roof.

The skreak of a chair, the long bend of a shadow, drew his eyes to the side. There was a halo of hair not two feet away from him. Then her features took shape, appearing to float over him—which was when Rafe knew that by some flip he had got off the track and tumbled into heaven.

He got up on one elbow the better to see. Lips red as cherries, China Doll eyes.

Never knowing he'd been tucked into a bed he sat straight up and found her hand against him.

And he was plumb naked.

When he finally came out from under the covers, still flushed of face and plenty mortified besides, the girl was gone. In her place sat a man who looked bigger than a load of hay with the poles up. He sure had tallow. Three sets of chins, and the rest of him most of it looked like stomach. You'd of had to throw a diamond hitch to keep him in a saddle.

It was hard to know what to make of so much bulk, and while Rafe was trying the three chins twisted around, the great head tipping back in an attitude of listening while the eyes sneaked a stealthy look in the direction of a door that was not quite closed.

Apparently reassured, the head came forward with a kind of a grunt, a hand shot out, dipping from sight beneath the bed, to be presently resurrected wrapped about an unmarked bottle of what appeared to be rye whisky. The other hand wrestled the cork from its neck. But just as he straightened, making ready to lift it a light tapping of heels just beyond the door turned him stiff as a poker.

The three chins quivered, the vast bulk jiggled, appearing to heave as with inner convulsions, and somewhere in the process the bottle disappeared.

The door was pushed open. The girl again. Slim as a willow shoot and, even in the made-over dress she had on, a vision so lovely it made Rafe blink. "Oh!" she cried stopping, "you've waked up. How do you feel?"

Rafe couldn't do more than gulp and goggle.

The bulk in the chair heaved and puffed like a porpoise, clearing its throat like a rattle of stones coming down a tin chute. "Been three days, ain't it? Go fix the boy something before he expires!"

Picking up her skirts, prettily flushing, the girl turned and fled.

A clanking of stovetops came almost at once, a banging of pots interspersed other sounds.

"Three days I've been here! Where am I?" Rafe growled.

"You ain't looking at St. Pete, that's for sure. This here's the town of Dry Bottom."

This didn't mean a heap to Rafe.

"That . . . girl?" he gruffed, swallowing, nervous.

"Name's Bunny. You may be hard put to believe this, but she happens to be my daughter." He cleared his throat with an avalanche of sound so sharp and sudden Rafe's good hand shot out to clamp hold of the bed. "I'm Wilbur Pike," the old walrus said, afterwards growling: "Who're you?"

"Yell 'Rife' and I'll come if I'm in shoutin' distance."

"That all the handle you got?" Pike said.

"Look," Rafe snarled, "if you don't want me here just fetch my clothes an' I'll shake your dust so fast—"

"Tsk, ts, ts. If there's nobody hunting you, why so edgy? You're being took care of."

Bunny appeared with a bowl and some crackers. She could see he was riled, and looked at her father. The old reprobate grinned. "He was fixing to get up and put on his duds."

"Oh, he mustn't," Bunny cried, blue eyes reproachful. "Why you're weak as a kitten . . ."

The clean woman smell of her was like an ambrosia, albeit somewhat disconcerting with so much of her so close. Rafe, self-conscious as a cow in bloomers, ungraciously growled: "I can feed myself!"

"Well . . ." she said, stepping back, "go ahead."

The old tub, watching, chuckled, silent as an Indian. Then his look winnowed down. "What's the matter with that hand?"

Seemed for a moment Rafe wasn't going to answer. He couldn't conceal his awkwardness and apparently his pride was touchy about it. Then his glance, crossing Bunny's, kind of yawed away. "Arm, wasn't set right. Horse rolled on it."

Bunny's eyes got awfully big. "In the war?" she whispered.

Rafe testily nodded. "Didn't waste much pains on us Rebels up North."

"Daddy could fix it. Dad was the best man on bones in Grant's army!"

Rafe crumbled the crackers into his broth. With his eyes on the bowl he began spooning it into him.

When the bowl was empty Rafe held it out. "That wasn't half bad," he gruffed—"for a sample. If you got any more, how about throwin' in a couple dozen dog bones?"

"Why not?" Pike shrugged. "Wasn't that nut of Pearly Smith's diggin' a while ago in that bed where you set out those rose cuttings? If two years in a Yankee prison wasn't able to put this joker out of business a dirty

Little Big Inch

could be the reason
your car will start quicker
this winter

To start quicker in freezing weather, the gasoline in your car needs the volatile, high energy supplied by butanes. That's why Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch pipeline system may be important to you this winter.

Our Little Big Inch pipeline has been and is now delivering increasing quantities of butanes to refineries in the Midwest. Beginning next month, the Little Big Inch—through a 500-mile expansion of its system—will make butane deliveries to refineries in the Philadelphia area.

As pipeline of energy, Texas Eastern continues to expand its natural gas and petroleum products systems to serve new areas of the Midwest and East. Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, Houston, Texas.

Astronauts Say Problem Is Overcome
By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Astronauts Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. and Alan B. Shepard Jr. said today practically all of Project Mercury's problems have been overcome.
Cooper is on schedule to make the nation's longest space trip—18 orbits of the earth in 24 hours—in February or March.
"We have pretty well rattled all of the skeletons out of the closet," Shepard said as the two were interviewed at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Manned Spacecraft Center here.
"There are problems, of course, but all of the major ones have pretty well been solved," Cooper said.
Shepard, the first American spaceman, is the backup pilot for Cooper's flight.
Cooper said he is delighted with his selection and said he was not discouraged by his lengthy wait in drawing the assignment.
Cooper is the sixth of the original seven astronauts to be selected for a space flight. A heart flutter eliminated Maj. Donald K. Slayton from Project Mercury's flight status.
Cooper and Shepard said they probably will begin intensive training for the flight at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in late January or early February.
They said no radical changes have been made in the Mercury capsule since Shepard made his 15-minute, 302-mile flight over the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral May 5, 1961.

Jury Calls in Club Operator
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Pulaski County Grand Jury called K. Barney Levine, operator of the Westwood Club on Highway 67 west, for questioning Tuesday.
Jury Foreman Charles Dyson said Levine was called in connection with a cover, bearing the words "Westwood Club," which was found on a dice table at the Red Gate Club in Little Rock.
Dyson and state troopers raided the Red Gate Club Oct. 26. Five persons were charged with keeping and operating a gambling house. Their cases are pending in Pulaski Circuit Court.
The table was seized along with liquor, cards, chips and $700. Dyson said the grand jury would look into the Westwood cover matter. Details of the session with Levine were not released.

and construction, is economically feasible.
He said he would support appropriations to continue planning surveys that started two years ago.
Albert said barge transportation would result in an industrial boom in the area because of expected lower freight rates.
He cited industrial developments along the Ohio River and others as a result of navigable waters.

Casualties at Sea Now Placed at 144
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A casualty roll of world sea disasters edged upward today, with 144 persons listed as dead or missing in a series of mishaps that started last week. Trouble in the Atlantic and the Pacific, the North Sea and the Mediterranean ran shipping losses into millions of dollars.
Nearly 100 seafarers were rescued from vessels sunk, battered or disabled by howling weekend storms. High waves pounded the coasts of Puerto Rico and Cuba, causing death, injury, and property damage.
The entire 36-man crew of the Japanese gasoline tanker Munakata Maru was presumed killed in a blazing inferno following a collision Sunday with another tanker in a narrow fog-shrouded channel of Tokyo Bay.
Thirty-two bodies had been recovered.
The fire was believed touched off by a barge's tunnel sparks dropping on high-octane gasoline leaking from the damaged 1,972-ton Munakata Maru. She carried 950,000 gallons of gasoline.
Three crewmen on two barges caught in the flames also were lost.
The 47 persons aboard the 21,634-ton Norwegian tanker Tharald Brovig, the other ship in the collision, were rescued. Ten suffered minor injuries.
The ships crashed and locked 200 yards from shore in Kawasaki Canal 12 miles from Tokyo.
Elsewhere at sea:
The 1 crewmen of the fishing scalloper Midnight Sun, out of New Bedford, Mass., were unaccounted for after a storm at sea Wednesday. The vessel failed to return to port when due Saturday.
Twelve Spanish fishermen were presumed drowned in a storm off the Spain's north coast Sunday. Their last radioed report said their boat was leaking.
Japan's Maritime Safety Agency reported two Japanese fishing boats with 26 crewmen were missing between their home ports and Okinawa. It said they were believed to have run into typhoon Karen, which skirted the Ryukyu Islands last weekend.
Five British rescuers and four fishermen perished under a huge wave that capsize their lifeboat Saturday at the harbor entrance to Seaham, Britain. A fifth fisherman was saved. The rescue crew had taken the fishermen off their battered boat.
A search continued Monday off the Bermuda and North Carolina coasts for five crewmen missing with their 35-foot sailing schooner, the Windfall, since Thursday in a race with another ill-fated schooner from Mystic, Conn., to the Virgin Islands. The other schooner, the Curlew, foundered off Bermuda. Its crew was rescued.
Another search off Bermuda was abandoned for 15 seamen from the Greek freighter Captain George, rocked by an explosion Wednesday. The 25-man crew, unable to contain a fire aboard the explosive-laden ship, took to lifeboats Thursday. Seven were rescued. Three bodies were recovered. Five of the survivors were landed in Philadelphia.
Sixteen of 18 persons from a capsized motorboat were reported missing today by Philippine authorities. The boat overturned Wednesday in the Sulu Archipelago. Fishermen reportedly rescued two persons.

Red Poll Sale Is Termed the Best

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Officers of the Red Poll Cattle Club of America reported today that the club's 19th annual sale held last week in Harrison was the largest Red Poll consignment sale on record, and that the number of bulls sold, 27, also was a record.

Top bull at $500 was an outstanding 23-month-old bull bred and consigned by Mervin Shuter of Franklin, Ind. It was sold to H. L. Fuchs & Sons, Carmine, Tex.

Top-selling cow was another Indiana-bred animal, sold by Pinney Purdue Farm of Wanatah, Ind., to Dr. Oliver Wallace of Green Forest, Ark. Pinney Purdue is an experimental farm owned by Purdue University.

Top bred heifer was consigned by McMarshall Farms, Washburn, Ill., and sold for $400 to Fred Conrad of Mahomet, Ill. Top open heifer was consigned by Herman W. Elbers of Seward, Neb., and sold for $410 to H. P. Olson & Sons of Altona, Ill.

Dr. L. A. S. Johnston of Holdenville, Okla., was elected president of the Red Poll Cattle Club of America, record and promotional association for the Red Poll breed of cattle.

Two directors, LaVerne S. Russell of Battle Creek, Mich., and D.R. Rutledge Gish, Fulton, Mo., were re-elected. Ralph Reed of Strasburg, Ill., was elected to the board. W. T. Robinson Jr. of Huntsville, Tex., was elected vice president of the organization.

The club said 394 breeders registered cattle during the year, 300 transferred cattle and 453 did one or both. Only three states, Arkansas, Illinois and Wisconsin, showed both registration and transfer increases over five years ago.

Improved business volume for the breed was noted by the club, and attributed to better public acceptance of what it called "the breed's proved superiority in gaining ability and in carcass qualities measured by consumer preferences for quality red meat with a minimum of outer fat."

Rose Bowl Clinched by So. Cal.

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While most of the major bowl berths have been securely nailed down, the national college football championship won't be decided until next Saturday when Southern California, already the Big Six winner, meets surging Notre Dame.

Southern Cal has been tapped for the Rose Bowl berth against Wisconsin of the Big Ten, and a victory over the Irish would virtually insure the Trojans' first national title since 1939. They have won all nine of their games so far.

Jim McKay's club had to come from behind and score two touchdowns in the final period to defeat UCLA, 14-3, Saturday to make its Rose Bowl bid certain.

Wisconsin also had to come from behind to beat Minnesota with a touchdown in the final quarter for a 14-9 decision and wind up its most successful season since 1912.

Whitten Plans to Withdraw Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Vernon H. Whitten of Mount Holly said Tuesday he now doubts if he will sue Gov. Orval E. Faubus for slander and character assassination.

Whitten, an unsuccessful candidate for governor, threatened suit during last summer's Democratic primary campaign because of remarks the governor made about his business career and his record as a state policeman.

"I'm inclined to let it rock along and not raise any more stink," Whitten said Tuesday. "There's enough going on already."

Whitten said he now is working for the Kin-Ark Oil Co., of El Dorado. He sold his lumber business at Mount Holly before entering the campaign.

Money for RS 70 Is Allotted

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The RS70 reconnaissance strike bomber, a focus of controversy in Washington for almost a decade, is getting a $50-million shot in the arm.

The new allotment was released to the Air Force Sunday by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. The Pentagon said the money will be used for development work on the highly complex radar and other units intended for the plane's reconnaissance missions.

18 Perish in Brazil Crash

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A Brazilian air liner and a light private plane collided and crashed in a remote area of Sao Paulo state today, the air force rescue service reported. All 23 persons aboard the air liner and three persons in the light plane apparently perished.

Statue Returned

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A valuable bronze statue has been returned to the University of Kansas Art museum two weeks after it was stolen.

The piece, valued by the museum at $10,000, was found Saturday night on the sidewalk in front of the police station at Marysville, Kan.

The sculpture, which disappeared Nov. 10, is a 30-inch German expressionist piece, cast in 1920 by the late George Kolbe.

Giants Making Signs Again in Pro Play

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those so-called "old" New York Giants are up to their even older habits today — that of grabbing titles in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

The Giants, whose alleged old age is more often mistaken for proven experience, all but stashed away their second straight conference title Sunday and fifth in the last seven years with a 42-24 victory over the Washington Redskins, who dropped from second to third in the Eastern race.

New York needs only a victory in one of its final three games to get the title and head for what it hopes will be a title rematch with the Green Bay Packers.

Green Bay, whose 37-0 victory over the Giants in the title game last year made them look even older than they are reputed to be, holds a one-game edge over Detroit in the Western Conference. Both were idle Sunday.

Cleveland (6-4-1) moved into second in the East by beating fourth-place Pittsburgh (6-5) 35-14 while the surging Chicago Bears (7-4) kept their Western title hopes alive with a 57-0 wallowing of the Baltimore Colts (5-6). The Giants and Bears face each other next Sunday in Chicago.

In other NFL games, Philadelphia upset the Dallas Cowboys, 28-14; San Francisco defeated St. Louis, 4-17; and the Los Angeles Rams and Minnesota Vikings played a 24-24 tie.

Shock Patients Are Studied

Under the instruction of Mrs. Hubert Rogers, R.N., the 7th Grade Medical Self Help Class learns what to do for conscious patients in shock.

Mrs. Rogers placed emphasis on prevention of chilling the patient. Ben Davis and Vernon Huckabee in the top picture demonstrate the head up position and Vernon is getting ready to administer fluids that a person in shock always needs. Ben also demonstrates (bottom) the correct head down position where there is no head injury.

Porkers Blast Tech, to Take a Little Rest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' Razorbacks, boasting more victories than any other Arkansas team in a single season, settled back today to begin a two-week rest.

Coach Frank Broyles watched the Hogs clobber Texas Tech at Lubbock, Tex., last Saturday 34-0 for Arkansas' ninth victory of the year. No other Arkansas team has won nine games in one season.

Brilliant Billy Moore, the Razorbacks' All-America nominee, ran for three touchdowns and passed for two in guiding Arkansas past the hapless Red Raiders.

His point production left him with 84 points, one short of George Cole's record set in 1927. Cole, now athletic director at the U of A, scored 85 points that year, and More took a crack at beating it on a two-point conversion run against Tech. He was stopped short.

It was announced Saturday that Moore was the winner of the annual Crisp Hall Homecoming Award, which is given to the senior with the most outstanding performance at the homecoming game.
